My symptoms were terrible I was fearfully bloated; I suffered severe pains in all parts of the body, and it was almost impossible to get my breath. For six days I never laid down and never slept. I was constantly attended by my regular physician, Dr. Johnson, and Doctor Bowditch also came to see me nearly every day. There was no doubt that I was suffering from Bright's disease of the kidneys in its worst form and last stages, accompanied by other troubles in my liver and heart. Still I lingered along for several weeks, far more dead than alive, but never giving up hope. One night—it was on the 20th of April, I very well remember—my attendant, who behind and yesterday when it left Marietta it was upon freight train 12's time. In front of 16 was another freight train. Just the other side of McIvor's this train put a flagman off to warn 16 and passed on. This flagman was picked up by 16 about three hundred yards beyond the place where the accident occurred. The stopping to take on the flagman caused 16 to lose time, and as 12 was not properly flagged by this train it knew nothing of the stack in speed, and came on at a rate of twenty miles per hour. Rounding a steep curve just at the thirteenth mile-post, Mr Herndon, the engineer, saw 16 creaping along in front of him trying to get up speed the blew down brakes and reversed, but the distance was so short, his speed so great and 16's speed so slow, that the collision was inevitable. Seeing that he would certainly strike the train in front of hun, Mr Herndon jumped off his engine when only a few feet from the cab, as also did Captain Woodruff, the conductor in charge of 16. Hardly had they reached the ground

Next to the engine were Western and Atlantic box cars 301, 203 and 682, which were loaded with flour. These were thrown from the track and torn to pieces, scattering their contents upon the track. Just behind these was a Memphis and Charleston box car, 861, which was likewise badly used up, then came a C. E. & I. box car, the last of the injured cars and the last one thrown off, which was pushed almost across the track. These five cars were badly demolished and when the reporter left the scene were being chopped to pieces in order to remove the contents and clear the track. A perfect beauty in the Corset line for 75c each, at noticed was the lack of respect for Hayer. As he sat in the carriage by the presidentelect he could see cartoons on either side of the avenue with incriptions referring to the frand of '76. In the dense crowd one could catch various expressions of satisfaction that the great office was once more fairly bestowed. I heard a dozen such sentiments during the day and several of them matter came from men who took pains to say that they were republicans. No man ever left the white houseso little regretted. I do not exaggerate when I say that General Haucock created fully as much enthusiasm as the new president. When he arrived the horses were taken from the carriage and a cheering crowd pulled it. When he entered the senate on the arm of Blaine, there was a nuiversal burst of the senate on the senate of the senate on the senate on the senate of the senate on the senate of th

JOHN RYAN'S Hair Restorer!

P. A. Lavigne, Wig Maker and Dealer in Human Hair Goods, 269½ Main St. Memphis, says he is selling the Louisiana Creole Hair Restorer to his numerous customers. It proves to be all which is claimed for it by the proprietors—restoring the hair to its original color, beauty, and softness, prevents its falong out, and is sure protection against baldness; cures dandruft and diseases of the head.

JOHN KEELY'S.

Memphis, Tennessee.

Gentlemen: You request me to state what I have observed of the results following the use of your "Louisiana Creole Hair Restorer." Hitherto I have uniformly declined giving certificates for any patent preparation. In this instance, however, I think it right to state the fact that I know your preparation saved a friend of mine from threatened baldness. The falling off of the hair was arrested by a few applications; then the thin gray locks began to assume their natural color; and now, after using four bottles, there is a general and healthy growth of soft and silky hair all over the head. I do not hesitate to say, with a number of my friends who have used, or observed its use, that your "Louisiana Creole Restorer" is a success. Respectfully, ED. W. MUNFORD.
